The process: We first plan a consultation for your boudoir portrait session. Our consultation is about half an hour. We'll discuss all the details of your upcoming portrait session. We'll discuss clothing, highlights, and the overall look of your portrait session. We will also go over your wants and need for your books, a special gift or something just for you. We'll review different products so you'll be prepared for your review and ordering session.

The Session :

A relaxed, private photographic experience that will show you in the best light... I customize each session to reflect the personality and preferences of each client, based on our original and continued contact.

Buddy System Session:

Not feeling brave enough? Or just want to have that extra boost in confidence well have a friend come along and get your sessions taken at the same time. Discounts available on session fee.

Girl's night out/in Session:

Make a night of it. Get together a group of your friends and all experience a boudoir session together. Share a few laughs and some appetizers while you all take time in front of the camera. This is a great gift for brides to give their bridal parties. On location is available for up to four girls. Price varies depending on the amount of people to be photographed.

Viewing your Images:

Make your appointment to come to the office and see your prepared images before your session is over. Turnaround time on the portrait varies depending on the session that you choose. once your selections are chosen all final editing will be completed. Depending on your order rushes are available on a case by case bases. and cost for a rush order will be solely by the client.

Tips for a successful session:

- Make up thinks Saturday night.
- If you happen to have a blemish avoid putting extra makeup on the area just let me know at the start of the session. It's easier to edit a blemish when I'm not having to alter the surrounding skin also.
- Remove any form fitting clothes an hour before appointment time you don't want to have indentation in your skin from bra straps or any other clothing.
- If this is to be part of a gift for someone else remember to include them in a form of props. His favorite tie, military cover, favorite sport jersey. Be as creative as possible.
- Bring your own music to help you relax and to help set the mood.
- Please avoid going to the tanning salon before your session. A spray tan changes the color of your skin under all the light where using.
- Just remember this is about you so we will work together to make your where photos unique and beautiful.
